Unidentified Body Found West of Coleman

Royal Canadian Mounted Police of the Blairmore detachment are continuing investigations to try to find the identity of a dead man whose badly decomposed body was found about 1 1/2 miles west of Coleman outskirts Aug. 24.

Police feel that the man died of natural causes and no foul play is suspected. Identification is being attempted through several papers that were found on the man's person. The man, thought to be about 40 years of age was approximately five feet two inches tall and weighed about 150 pounds. He was wearing blue-grey trousers, an army jacket under a smock-type jacket.

The body was found by a CPR man working with a gang near Coleman. The body was some 50 feet north of the CPR right of way in some trees.

N.E.S. Advises Return To School

"Job opportunities for uneducated and unskilled workers are fewer than ever, while employment in jobs requiring education and training continues to increase," Terry Robertson, manager of the Blairmore National Employment Service stated today. With school doors now open he appealed to potential drop-outs to reconsider and return to school to complete their secondary school education, so as to increase their usefulness to employers.

Regardless of whether high school education or technical training is involved, Mr. Robertson cautioned would-be 'drop-outs' that their chances not only of finding employment but of advancing in it today without completing their schooling are very poor.

"Records of the National Employment Service show that many of today's long-term unemployed are the 'drop-outs' of ten or fifteen years ago," he noted.

"Many good jobs are available across Canada today for which no qualified workers can be found, while opportunities for the uneducated and unskilled are steadily diminishing," the N.E.S. manager stated.

Mr. Robertson referred to a tendency today on the part of many employers to hire only graduates and explained that "hiring for the bottom of the ladder, that is to say for beginners on the staff, are made from applicants who are likely prospects for advancement. Generally speaking, drop-outs are considered poor risks."

Referring to 'sweeping changes' taking place in the business and industrial world, the N.E.S. manager noted that "a person with an adequate education is capable of rolling with the 'punches' of our times. One's job may change considerably, demanding new knowledge or skills which only the educated or trained person is capable of absorbing."

No Endorsement of Centennial Booklet

No Centennial booklet or directory supported by paid advertising has been authorized or endorsed by the Alberta government, it was announced today by the Alberta Government Publicity Bureau.

The Bureau has received several enquiries from different places in Alberta concerning the solicitation of advertising for "the province's Centennial Directory". It was emphasized that there was no such directory being compiled or even contemplated by the government.

The Bureau pointed out that the Centennial observance made it easy for persons willing to misrepresent themselves and their associations, to obtain funds and support for projects that are not what they purport to be. Sale of advertising and subscriptions is one of the more obvious.

It is strongly recommended that persons or firms approached for support of any "Alberta approved" publication require first of Publicity Bureau before participating on the strength of presumed government endorsement.

Centennial Symbol

Arrangements have now been completed for the use of the Centennial Symbol, developed by the Centennial Commission, as an aid in the promotion of Canada's Centennial of Confederation.

The Symbol is a stylized version of a maple leaf, consisting of eleven equilateral triangles, representing the ten provinces of Canada and the great Canadian North.

It lends itself to color variations and can be adapted for multiple uses such as pennants, souvenir wares, stationery and other decor. When used together with the dates "187-1967", with or without the words "Canada Confederation", it will be a reminder of the 100th Anniversary of Confederation in Canada.

The Centennial Symbol may be used by business organizations, government agencies and individuals throughout Canada under three categories of use.

It may be used without formal licence or consent, by governments, voluntary agencies, organizations and individuals who aim to promote the Centennial of Confederation as a public service.

Commercial enterprises who propose using the Symbol to promote the Centennial of Confederation separately and distinctly from any wares or services they are selling or distributing may do so, but only with a letter of consent from the nearest Collector of Customs and Excise.

A formal licence is required for the reproduction of the Symbol by any commercial enterprise or any individual who manufactures for sale or distribution, wares on which the Symbol is either (a) the principal element, or (b) is associated with the goods or services for sale. These formal licenses specifically relate to cases such as manufacturers or wholesale distributors who anticipate an economic profit through the sale of wares or services featuring the Symbol, and are granted at the discretion of the Centennial Commission at a fee of $10.00.

Users of the Symbol must apply for and follow the Centennial Symbol Graphics Manual, one copy of which is available for each user. Copies of the Graphics Manual and other information dealing with the Centennial Symbol may be obtained by writing:

Centennial Symbol,

Publicity Bureau,
246 Highway Building,

Visitor From South Africa

Mrs. Beatrice Bussio of Cape-town, South Africa, has returned after having visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Taggart. Mrs. Bussio and Mrs. Taggart are cousins.

Mrs. Bussio was on an extended tour of South America and travelled to Alberta to visit her relatives. She visited the Pass five years ago and was so highly impressed with the scenic beauty of the area she returned for the second time.

While here five years ago, she travelled over the Kananaskis highway to Banff and compared the scenery with that of Switzerland. While on her six-month tour she represented the Business and Professional Women's Association of South Africa.

Eastern Star Tea Successful

The Eastern Star afternoon Tea held at the home of Mrs. James Montabetti, Worthy Matron of the Minerva Chapter on August 28th was a very successful event. Reports indicate the event to have been one of the best yet held.

Centennial Project Discussed by Council

Town council, at its meeting Tuesday evening appointed Trevor A. Collister as returning officer, and Mrs. Nora Goulding and Steve Penney as deputy returning officers for forthcoming fall elections. Three polling booths will be set up in the Union hall and polling will be arranged in alphabetical order.

As the result of a discussion on the necessity of appointing three returning officers and setting up three polling stations as required by law to cover Coleman's possible 900 eligible voters, council agreed to draft a resolution to be presented at the Municipal Convention in Edmonton October 27 to 29.

The resolution will be in protest of communities having to appoint one returning officer and set up one polling station for every 300 eligible voters. The resolution will suggest raising the figure to at least 500 or 600 eligible voters.

Council will decide at its next meeting if any members will attend the convention.

The matter of a Centennial project for Coleman was discussed and it was decided to invite representation from Coleman lodges and service clubs to attend the next meeting and get their views on projects that could be undertaken. A committee will also be formed.

Coleman will receive approximately $1700 Centennial grant.

George Horn Passes, at 81 Years

George Sylvester Horn, died at Cross St. East Pass Municipal Hospital, Sept. 1, aged 81 years. Born in Cootook, Que., Dec. 12, 1884, he farmed at Robson, B.C., 1900-25, worked at Johnson Bros. Sawmills, Fort Macleod, four years, operated own mill 1929-40 in Gladstone Valley, worked at mills in Blairmore several years and in 1948 took up residence in Coleman.

Mr. Horn was a well respected citizen who devoted his life to his family and home.

He was a member of the Senior Citizens' Organization. He married Christine Christensen, Calgary in 1936. He was predeceased by parents in Robson and two sisters. Survivors include his wife at Coleman and three sons, Melvin and Harry, Canal Flats, B.C.; Douglas of Ponoka; a daughter, Mrs. A. (Carrie) Peters, Fernie, and four grandchildren. Funeral services were held Saturday at 2 p.m. in Fantin's Hillside Chapel, Passin 100 "Mistake a Joyful Noise Unto the Lord all Ye Lands" was read. Hymns sung were "Lead Kindly Light" and "Blest Be The Tie That Binds". Pallbearers were Alex Barclay, Art. Kyooy, P. Bodio, R. Plindlay, J. Sikora, Jr. and D. Bouthillier.

Interment was made in the Coleman Union Cemetery. Mr. Peter Walker officiated. Fantin's Hillside Chapel was in charge.

Coleman Man Sentenced 60 Days

Lawrence Harold Richardson was sentenced to 60 days in the Lethbridge Provincial Jail August 26, when he appeared before Magistrate P. S. Radford of Blairmore, and pleaded guilty to a charge of selling liquor to minors.

The case resulted from Richardson selling two dozen beer to four Coleman teen-age boys, ranging in age from 16 to 18. A rowdy party ensued in a local hotel. Chief of Police E. Corson preferred the charge.

Marilyn Liddell Wins Scholarship

Miss Marilyn Liddell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Liddell, received word last week that she has been awarded an IOOE Scholarship valued at $600. Miss Liddell is also the winner of the Coleman OORP Scholarship. Marilyn will enter the University of Alberta in Edmonton this fall to study education. Her average at the Coleman High School this year was 83.3%.

Modern Electric Take Over Dutil Building

Modern Electric have recently taken over the Coleman Hardware Company Building on Main Street from Wilfred Dutil who has retired from the Hardware business and with his wife has moved to the West Coast.

Mr. Montabetti states that the building will be used to display furniture such as chestfields, bedroom suites, dining room and kitchen suites and other large household goods such as deep freezers, fridges, stoves and television sets. Other plans for the building have not yet been determined.

District Assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses

Mr. W. L. Krish, presiding minister of the local congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, recently returned from a four-day District Assembly of Witnesses held at the Stampede Corral in Calgary. Mr. Krish reported that 7040 delegates from seven provinces and 27 states were in attendance and 105 new ministers were added to the ranks in a special ordination ceremony.

A symposium of talks on Christian morality was of particular value, according to Mr. Krish.

"Hundreds of teen-agers were at this Assembly," he said, "and they were sternly warned that the health and integrity of tomorrow's adults rests in the hands of today's pleasure-prone youth." It was revealed that in some Canadian provinces sexually-transmitted diseases have risen 1,000 per cent in just six years. "This is a shameful and shocking waste of youthful resources," said the speaker.

Mr. Krish also commented that the teen-agers were admonished to show respect for public and private property; work with their parents in building a happy family unit and to adhere closely to the Biblical principles of honesty and reliability.

The conventioners were told that what is socially acceptable is not necessarily morally or scripturally right. Mr. Krish said that all were counseled to maintain a program of daily Bible reading and to live every day according to scriptural principles.

Date Change Announced

Coleman Elks announced this week that plans for the social evening scheduled to have been held Oct. 9 have been changed and the event will be held on Oct. 23.

Besides provincial lodge officers that will be present, Grand Exalted Ruler Adam Demenick of The Pass, Manitoba will be in attendance at the event.

Teacher Preparation Course For Driver Education

Gordon E. Taylor, Minister of Highways and Chairman of the Alberta Driver Education committee, has announced that applications for the Teacher Preparation Course for Driver Education to be held August 18 to 28 at the University of Alberta Campus will be accepted any time up to July 31.

The Course is under the direction of Gordon Oswald, B.Ed. The All Canada Insurance Federation — through the Canadian Highway Safety Council — will provide financial assistance to high school teachers who satisfactorily complete the Course in an amount of $40.00 for all teachers residing over 20 miles from the limits of the City of Edmonton and 10c per mile one way from their residence to Edmonton.

Brochures may be secured from the offices of the Minister of Highways, the A.M.A. or the Alberta Safety Council.

The Course will feature lectures and actual road instruction as well as methods of classroom presentation. Teachers interested in preparing themselves to teach Driver Education are urged to apply for this Course.

Escape Injury

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bramer escaped serious injury Saturday night when their car failed to negotiate the curve around the bluff in West Coleman.

The couple were returning to their home when their car smashed through a seven-inch guard rail post, six steel guard rail posts and through the railings on the guard rails.

Extensive damage was done to the car, but the couple only sustained minor cuts and bruises.

Chief of Police Ed Corson is investigating the accident.

WINNIPEG — The diesel locomotive and the critical days before freeze-up on the Great Lakes holds the key to a successful rail movement of Russia's big wheat purchase off the Canadian prairies.

That's the assessment of transportation experts as Canada's railroads marshal their resources for the "maximum effort" sought by Trade and Commerce Minister Mitchell Sharp when he announced the Russian sale.

The worth of a diesel locomotive can be seen when its hauling capacity is matched against the job of bringing grain off the prairies. One diesel in grain service can haul the equivalent of close to one million bushels of wheat from the heart of the prairie grain belt to the head of the lakes before freeze-up.

In addition the same diesel can haul a further three-quarters of a million bushels from Georgian Bay ports to the Atlantic coast during the winter months and another three-quarters of a million bushels from prairie points to the Lakehead in the spring and early summer to meet the July 31 deadline set by the Russians.

Canadian Pacific, for example, is making adjustments in its transcontinental passenger train service by increasing the passenger capacity of its deluxe 'Canadian' and having it handle all transcontinental service.

By doing so, the railway will make available some 25 diesel units for the Russian grain movement, just as the big push gets underway.

These diesel units will be able to haul some 20,000,000 bushels of grain to the Lakehead before the freeze-up; go into grain service from Georgian Bay to the Atlantic and come back to the prairies in the spring to haul a grand total of 35,000,000 bushels before the end of next July.

OF MANY THINGG (By Ambrose Hills)

Crime and Politics

I've read and re-read the Dorion Report, and these are some of my reactions:

1. Sympathy for the police. It is touchy business dealing with crime among politicians. A cop can get clobbered. Especially when cabinet ministers keep saying to him, "you couldn't prove this in court, could you?"

Seems to me Judge Dorion was right in saying the efficiency of the RCMP is beyond question. I think he might have gone even further and commended them for going as far as they did as fast as they did in such a political climate. The bigger government gets the tougher life can be for a policeman when the criminals are found in political circles. A judge is not in quite the same vulnerable position, although even Judge Dorion made changes in his report when the premier and some cabinet ministers put the heat on. I think he might have recognized the tough position the police were in when they had to trail and question suspects in high positions in government. It will be bad if the government uses the report as an excuse to punish the RCMP for the work it did do in bringing to light the evidence which was sufficient for Judge Dorion to clobber so many politicians!

2. Sadness regarding Favreau. He was working too hard. In my opinion, his error was a bad one and Mr. Pearson should have banished him from the Cabinet for it. But he deserves sympathy. He was trying to do the work of three good men. He will make a political comeback.

3. Confirmation of my long-held conviction that we ought not let governments grow too big or powerful. The more money they handle, the more room for hanky-panky.

4. Admiration for Douglas and Nielsen, who first brought this matter to light; and particular praise to Nielsen, who was willing to put his political career on the block by making firm accusations and naming names.

OF MANY THINGG (By Ambrose Hills)

Many Hands . . .

Canadians have been taught to expect costly benefits from the federal government. Family allowances, old age pensions and the like are taken for granted, and there are demands that they be increased. A national health plan is under consideration and the platforms of most political parties include many social benefits too sweet to be resisted.

Can we afford all these good things?

Not unless all sectors of the economy carry a share of the load.

Crown corporations, for example, are going to have to be put on a paying basis quickly and turn over a fair portion of their earnings to meet the cost of social services. This is not to pick on crown corporations. I believe some of them have served a useful purpose. But it becomes necessary, as governments spend more, to insist that all segments of society contribute their utmost.

Some crown corporations, by their very nature are not expected to make money; but they could at least practice more thrift in their operations and release the money saved for other uses.

Co-operatives, too, are going to have to pay more toward these social benefits. After all, members of the co-operative movement get old age pensions, family allowances and so forth, just like the rest of us. The co-op movement was begun by high-minded, idealistic men and women. Surely their successors can see the need to contribute more fairly than they do now to cost of pensions, health care and all the rest. Yet it is amazing how indignant some of them get when it is proposed that they dig in and help shoulder the load.

New Postage Stamp Program For 1966

Eleven commemorative postage stamps will be issued by Canada in 1966. This announcement was made by the Hon. Rene Tremblay, the postmaster-general.

The series featuring the official flowers and armorial bearings of the provinces and territories will be concluded next year. Alberta and Saskatchewan will be honored on January 19th and the newest province, Newfoundland, will be commemorated on February 23rd. Florals for the Yukon and North-West Territories will be issued on March 23rd.

Mr. Tremblay explained that this sequence is one of the ways in which the Post Office Department is marking the Centennial. The series began on May 14, 1964, when the Maple Leaf - Unity stamp appeared. Ontario and Quebec were featured on June 30th, 1964, followed by Nova Scotia and New Brunswick on February 3rd, 1965. Prince Edward Island will be similarly honored on July 21, 1965.

The three hundredth anniversary of the arrival of La Salle in Canada will provide the subject for another 1966 issue. The stamp will go on sale April 20th.

May 18th has been selected as the date of issue for a stamp to focus attention on Highway Safety. The postmaster general explained that traffic deaths are increasing alarmingly each year and expressed the hope that this issue will serve to make people more aware of this needless tragedy.

Peaceful Uses of Atomic Energy will be the theme of a stamp to appear July 20th. The date was chosen to coincide as closely as possible with the opening of the CANDU reactor at Douglas Point, Ontario, which has been scheduled for the summer of 1966.

The third stamp in a series honoring the major steps which culminated in Confederation will go on sale September 7th. The London Conference will be the subject. The first such meeting honored by the post office was the Charlottetown Conference, featured on a postage stamp which went on sale July 29th, 1964. The Quebec Conference issue was released September 9th, last year.

For the third consecutive year, Canada will have Christmas stamps in 1966. Mr. Tremblay explained that they will be of the three cent and five cent denominations, the most commonly used for Christmas cards and letters.

All these stamps, except the three cent Christmas issue, will be five cents in value.

Provincial Museum And Archives And Historic Sites

The Provincial Secretary, the Hon. A. Holowach, has announced the appointment of Raymond O. Harrison as Director of Provincial Museum and Archives and Historic Sites. He initially was associated with the Alberta government as a Museums Consultant.

Mr. Harrison was born in Australia. He is a graduate in Architecture from the Royal Melbourne Institute of Technology, and completed several courses in Archival and Historical Administration after moving to Canada.

Prior to joining the staff of the Museums Branch of the Department of the Provincial Secretary, Mr. Harrison was employed as Extension Supervisor at the Saskatchewan Museum of Natural History in Regina for three years. From 1963 to 1969 he was engaged in developing and organizing the basis for the Vancouver Maritime Museum, and served as architect for the project.

Mr. Harrison is responsible for the development and setting out of the requirements for the Provincial Museum and Archives, as well as assembling the collections and planning displays. Mr. Harrison said that since the Provincial Museum and Archives Branch was established three years ago, it has now become a major force in the collecting and preserving of Alberta's heritage. He gave as examples the acquisition of the Harry Pollard Photo Collection comprising 11,000 historical photographs of Alberta, the Allison Procter Collection of Ukrainian pioneer weaving, the Robert Cochrane Fossil Collection, the growing collection of Indian ceremonial items and the recording of Indian songs and legends.

Major achievements also were in the first museum field collecting expeditions conducted by the province last year which yielded 1036 bird and mammal specimens, 1962 fossil and mineral specimens, and approximately 6262 historical items.

Mr. Harrison urged the people of Alberta to join the ranks of 189 organizations and persons who have already contributed to the displays now being assembled for Alberta's Centennial Museum and Archives.

Agricultural Workers Are Needed

An urgent request for agricultural workers to assist in the anticipated record harvest this year has gone forward from Mr. W. C. Stewart of Winnipeg, Man., director of the National Employment Service in the Prairie region.

In view of the bumper crop anticipated for this year, a preliminary survey has indicated that a serious shortage of farm workers may develop in the Prairie provinces.

During the past years, there has been a growing trend of workers migrating to the urban areas. This has created a shortage of farm workers at peak periods.

Canada's economy will be adversely affected if the crop is not harvested in time.

The National Employment Service is, therefore, appealing to experienced workers to come forward as assist in this important undertaking.

Jobs are immediately available for former farm workers and for men who can operate modern farm equipment. Students, business people and others presently employed can earn additional money and help alleviate this critical situation by offering to assist after regular working hours or on week-ends or holidays.

They should apply without delay to their nearest National Employment Office for particulars.

Skids Can Follow First Rain Drops

The first drops of rain after a dry spell will combine with the oil slick on a highway and produce extremely dangerous conditions, warns the Canadian Highway Safety Council. The combination of new rain and accumulated oil on the road surface forms a slippery compound and reduces traction. A driver easily can lose control of his vehicle under such conditions.

The Rubber Association of Canada explains that an oil slick is a thin coat of oil droplets deposited on highways by the exhausts of motor vehicles. It takes about a week of dry weather to build up enough oil slick to cause a driving hazard. The association estimates as much as 800 gallons of oil are poured by cars on each mile of highway in a single year.

A prolonged or heavy rainfall will wash away the oil.

However, the Council adds, heavy rains bring new perils. A rubber company in England, after a year's research found that water on a highway builds up beneath tires, until at 80 miles an hour, the car is practically aquaplaning—its tires barely touching the pavement. At 40 m.p.h. on a wet road, the water starts to build up under the tire like a ship's bow wave. Before the tire can grip the surface of even a moderately wet road, it has to disperse between eight and nine pints of water a second. At high speeds, the tread area has about 1/150th of a second to do it. Pressure forces the water wedge beneath the contact area, and soon the tire is actually riding on water. Well-worn treads will of course start aquaplaning sooner.

The Council said there is only one answer, and that is the name of CHSC's summer vacation campaign—"Slow Down and Live".

Planning aids in kitchen

People who have made a study of such things state that the average housewife in a family of four will cover several hundred miles annually doing household chores. It can be safely assumed that the majority of these miles will be walked in the kitchen.

A kitchen planned for efficiency and convenience reduces waste motion and physical drudgery to the minimum.

An attractive convenient and efficient kitchen is within the reach of every housewife today.

No matter how old or out of date your kitchen may be modernized—even glamorized—at a cost which is often surprisingly lower than you might have supposed.

The Institute recommends a reliable plumbing contractor be consulted first. His professional know-how enables him to suggest the most practical procedure to meet your needs.

The heart of every kitchen is the sink since all kitchen chores revolve around it. This, then, should be made the focal point of your modernization plans.

Generally speaking, the kitchen sink should be conveniently located between the refrigerator and food storage cupboards—where the meal starts—and the stove, where it is finally cooked.

The two most favored layouts for an efficient kitchen are the "U" type and the "L" type.

In the former type, the sink forms the base of the "U", and work surfaces are located on either side, while refrigerators and stove are placed at the tips of the "U". In the "L" shaped layout, as in the other, the location of the food storage, sink and stove should be placed in that order for easier preparation of meals. In other words, the "work flow" should always be in one direction, reducing steps, reaching and so forth to a minimum.

Your plumbing contractor can offer a wide variety of new, smart equipment for your selection.

Single and double sinks or combination tub and sink are available in gleaming stainless steel or in bright, attractive porcelain enamel—in colors if you wish. New single lever faucets are offered which permit control of water temperature and water flow with one finger. One of the handiest new ideas is a spray attachment for washing vegetables or rinsing dishes. It is retractable when not in use, taking up no extra room. And, of course, the modern garbage disposal unit is becoming a "must" with many women to get rid of messy refuse immediately.

To the woman who is still "making do" with a kitchen which is not completely modern, it will be an eye-opening experience to see what equipment manufacturers have to offer today.

The Canada Pension Plan and its benefits

Here is what the Canada Pension Plan will do for people like Thor Andersen, a farmer who works for himself and makes $4,000 a year.

The Andersens are both aged 45 and have no family. If Thor's earnings continue at $4,000 a year until he reaches age 65, he can look forward to a retirement pension of $83.33 a month from the Plan. This, plus the $75 each Mr. and Mrs. Andersen will receive from Old Age Security, will give them a total of $233.33 a month—equal to 70% of Thor's previous average earnings.

If Thor becomes disabled anytime after 1970, having contributed until his disability began, he will get a disability pension of $87.50 a month. This will continue until he becomes 65 when he will receive his retirement and Old Age Security pensions.

Should Thor die anytime after 1967, having contributed until his death, his wife will receive a widow's pension of $56.25 a month until she becomes 65. From then on she will get $125 a month—$50 from the Plan and $75 from Old Age Security. At the time of Thor's death Mrs. Andersen will be entitled to a lump sum payment of $500.

All benefits under the Plan will maintain their value. The actual benefits payable will probably be higher than those given here since benefits will be adjusted to meet changes in living costs and in wage levels before they are paid and changes in living costs after they become payable.

What will the Plan cost you?

If you, like Thor, in a particular year, have self-employed earnings of $4,000 you will pay $122.40 in instalments, in the same way you pay income tax.

This advertisement is one of a series which relates some of the important benefits of the Canada Pension Plan to individual circumstances.

Issued by authority of the Minister of National Health and Welfare, Canada, The Honourable Judy LaMarsh.

VIEWING HIGHLIGHTS FOR THE COMING WEEK

September 11th-17th
Sunday, September 12th marks the opening of the biggest week of the year in North American television — the week when all the networks watch their 1965-66 schedule. The CBC network schedule called "STARBURST '65" will introduce 20 new shows this week. Sunday, "Perry Mason" returns for another season. This year he'll fight for justice at a new time and date, 6:00 p.m. Sundays. He'll be followed at 7:00 by "Hank", a new series about a young man who never finished high school but is working towards his university degree without the blessing, or the knowledge of his lecturers and the university registrar. The balance of the Sunday schedule for the fall will be exactly the same as last year with "Flashback" at 7:30, "Ed Sullivan" at 8:00, North America's most popular TV show "Bonanza" at 9:00 and "This Hour Has Seven Days" at 10:00. However, "This Hour" will not be back until later on in September. Monday evening will have "Don Messer" at 7:30, the ruggedly, handsome David Janssen as the "Fugitive" at 8:00 and "Show of the Week" series Monday, September 13th features the triumphant return to his native Ottawa of the internationally famed Paul Anka.

The Tuesday evening prime time schedule features two very popular comedy shows that joined the CBC network this year from the CTV network. These are the "Red Skelton" show at 8:00 and he "Dick Van Dyke" show at 9:30. Between them at 9:00 will be the durable "Front Page Challenge" panel game which returns to its ninth consecutive season under the gracious chairmanship of Fred Davis.

Wednesday network highlights include the debut of "OK Crackerby" which stars the famous folk-singer Burl Ives as the richest man in Oklahoma. Crackerby begins throwing his considerable weight around this week at 8:00. "Festival" begins another distinguished season with the national ballet companies spectacular production of "Romeo and Juliette" by Prokofiev. Festival will be seen each Wednesday at 8:30.

There is a great deal of variety in the Thursday evening schedule which begins with the prisoner of war camp comedy "Hogan's Heroes" at 7:30. It will be followed immediately at 8:00 by the ambitious Canadian film series "Seaway" which will be produced on location along the mighty St. Lawrence seaway. Pretty, blonde Barbara Eden who used to play Loco in "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying" returns to TV as the genie in a new comedy series entitled, "I Dream of Jeannie". She's a delightful but meddlesome addition to the U.S. space program at Cape Kennedy. Jeannie pops out of her bottle Thursday at 9:00.

"Telescope" moves from Friday to Thursday night at 9:30. On the first program host Fletcher Markle gives us An Affectionate look at Wayne and Shuster. A new Western starring Robert Horton of "Wagon Train" fame will make its debut Thursday at 10:00. Entitled, "A Man Called Shenandoah", it's the tale of a nameless man who wanders the west seeking the identity he lost through the shock of a bullet wound.

On Friday a major change in program policy is reflected in the Friday night schedule when CBC television plans a feature movie at 9:00 p.m. The series will open this Friday with "The Gazebo" starring Glenn Ford and Debbie Reynolds.

One of the most promising new shows in the whole schedule also makes its debut Friday — it is "Get Smart", the bungling misadventures of Agent 86, Don Adams the world's worst spy. Agent 86 gets his first assignment this Friday at 8:00. Western and country music fans will enjoy songs by Tommy Hunter and Pat Hervey and the music of the Rhythm Pals on "The Tommy Hunter Show" Friday evening at 8:30.

The schedule promises to be the most varied and entertaining ever carried by the CBC.

Elks Bingo Winners

Winners of prizes at the Coleman Elks Bingo night were: grocery hamper, Mrs. Mary Letke of Natal; wrist watch, Anna Jones; $18, Josephine Graf; $6.00 gas each, R. Cerney and A. Carlson; electric frying pan, Mrs. Sonny Lord; $10, Mrs. W. Roughhead; electric hand mixer, Elen McDonald; $5.00 each, Mrs. M. Pacey, A. Brumak, Mary Atkinson and Harry Holmes; easy rocking chair, Donald Fleming; $8.00 each, Mrs. R. Salant and Anne Hurtak and $12, Mrs. Humphries of Blairmore.

The next bingo night will be held Sept. 10 when a cash jackpot of $300 in 54 numbers will be offered besides other prizes.

Rings A Bell?

Thought-provoking is a good way to describe this recent editorial carried by the Barrie (Ont.) Banner: One of the most widely read books of all time is "The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire." It sets forth five basic reasons why that civilization withered and died. These were:

The undermining of the dignity and sanctity of the home, which is the basis for human society. Higher and higher taxes; the spending of public money for free bread and circuses for the populace.

The mad craze for pleasure, sports becoming every year more exciting, more brutal, more immoral.

The building of great armaments when the real enemy was within—the decay of individual responsibility.

The decay of religion; faith fading into mere form, losing touch with life, losing power to guide the people.

It vaguely rings a bell, doesn't it?

Mrs. Weltens Wins $100 Jackpot

Mrs. Fred Weltens of Blairmore was the lucky winner of a $100 jackpot at the Lions Bingo night. Other winners were $12, Bill Goodwin, Ethel Spievak, Mrs. T. Cunningham and Mrs. Ivan Johnson; $15, V. Beelrose of Edmonton, Hilda Blas of Blairmore; $10, Dora Fraser of Natal, Nelli Stonley, Mrs. Cozzi of Coleman and Mrs. M. Cox of Blairmore; $5.00, Frances Cole and Mrs. P. Vejprava of Blairmore; $3.00, Polly Snowden, Nora Goulding, Muriel Ingram and Helen Neddo all of Coleman.

The next bingo night will be held on Sept. 15 when besides a $100 cash jackpot prize that must go, other prizes including five $10 bingos, five $12 bingos and one extra $25 bingo will be offered to the public.

Letter to the Editor

343 West King Rd.
North Vancouver, B.C.

Dear Mr. Holstead:
Enclosed find $2.50 for my subscription for the Journal. We received two copies so far and find it most interesting to ex-Colemanites like ourselves. It seems like a touch of home to us.

Thank you,
Mrs. J. Ukrainetz.

Box 543,
Acton, Ontario.

Dear Mr. Holstead:
Enclosed is a money order for $2.50 to bring our subscription up to date.

We were very pleased to have Miss Mickey Kilgannon visit us for a few days while she was holidaying in Toronto.

Hope to see every one at Christmas.

Yours truly,
Mrs. R. Jacklyn.

New Stamp Honors Sir Winston

Details of a Canadian postage stamp to be issued this month to honor Sir Winston Churchill, were released today by the Hon. Rene Tremblay, postmaster-general.

The stamp is the first Canadian stamp printed by the duotone offset process, a method of printing particularly suited to the reproduction of photographs.

It features the famous "roaring lion" portrait of Sir Winston by Yousuf Karsh, internationally renowned Canadian photographer.

Complementary design is work of Philip Weiss, Canadian artist and director of the Department of Industry's National Design Branch.

The stamp will be printed in brown by the Canadian Bank Note Company Limited of Ottawa. The total number of stamps printed is to be 35 million.
